

Adulting is a lot. Here's a guide to help.

The Map to Adulthood is a free, easy-to-use guide covering the practical stuff that comes up when you're starting out on your own. Budgeting, taxes, finding a place to live, landing a job, and more. It's written in plain language, organized so you can find what you need, and completely free to use anytime.

WHAT YOU'LL FIND THERE

Money

Budgeting, taxes, credit cards, insurance, and how to start saving.

Career

Building a resume, job hunting, interviews, and negotiating pay.

Education

College, trade school, financial aid, and how to keep learning.

Life Skills

Finding housing, cooking, car care, laundry, and staying safe online.

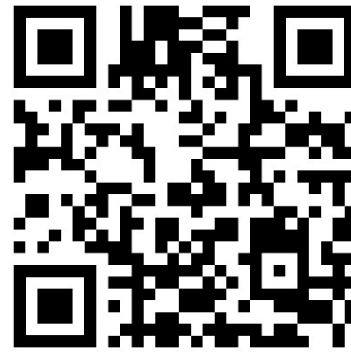

47 guides. All free. Start anywhere.

You don't have to read everything. Just look up what you need, when you need it.

NOT SURE WHERE TO START?

- Need money basics?
Go to the Money section — start with Financial Literacy Overview.
- Looking for a job?
Head to Career and start with Building a Strong Resume.
- Thinking about college or a trade?
Check the Education section and start with Choosing a Major or Trade.
- Moving out soon?
The Life Skills section has guides on finding housing and setting up your first place.

SCAN TO VISIT

themaptoadulthood.com
Free. No account needed.

Guided Pathways: Starting College · Landing Your First Job
Getting Your Finances in Order · Moving Out · Healthcare Literacy

Not sure where to begin? Each pathway walks you through a specific situation step by step.